Sessions were understandably high paced, but perhaps he could have left material on whiteboard for us to examine better.

He is very helpful, also, but just some tips for the future: try to talk more slowly and explain things more clearly. I understand that tutorial slots are only 1 hour long, but when going through the lesson, phrases such as 'and then you do this, and this' doesn't help me understand steps in a problem, especially when I cannot see the board since it is like Ernesto is talking to himself and covering the working out; not giving most of us time to digest the information. This is something that Ernesto can easily improve on, but just wanted to make it clear for improvement later on, and perhaps tutorials should be made longer than an hour to accommodate for such improvements. Best of luck, Ernesto. |
